

TLC STUDENTS LEARN TO SAIL AT PISC

Paphos International Sailing Club and TLC School are about to launch a new project that will see students take to the waters around Agios Georgios.

The primary aim of this project is to introduce students aged 16 to 18 years old to the exciting sport of sailing. Students, sailing "PICO" dinghies, will be taught all the skills required to rig, launch, sail, recover and de-rig a dinghy. In addition students will learn how to tie knots and how a sail provides power to manoeuvre a boat. Successful students will gain a certificate recognising their achievement in gaining a life long skill.

Joint project co-ordinators Phil Mutton, PISC Chief Instructor and David Lewis, Principal TLC are delighted that the many months of preparation are about to come to fruition and wish all students every success in their quest to learn the mysteries of the art of sailing.

No mystery about the famous PISC Regatta on 7 - 9 October. This exciting event includes the European Kestrel Open Championship. Top class sailors will be flying in to compete at Agios Georgios.

If you are a sailing fan or want to find out what all this excitement is about just COME ALONG. The event is held over three days Friday 7th. to Sunday 9th. October 2016.

Make a day of it - hire a sun bed and shade, order a meal and drink from Koula's friendly Kiosk, then just sit back and enjoy.
